To Advertisers

Nearly TEN thousand copies of the Repub tions are circulated among the fleating population every day, besides the large number served to regular subscribers. Advertisers will take note accordingly.

To our Georgetown Subscribers.

Our former agent, Mr. A. W. Burns, having declined to act as our agent, subscribers in Georgetown will hereafter be served by Mr. O. R. Delphy, who is now our recognized agent for that city. We owe an apology for the irregu-larity with which the Republican has been de-livered to our subscribers there, but hope to have the paper served more punctually under the new arrangement.

Persons wishing to subscribe will please leavtheir names at Mr. G. Crandell's bookstore, No. 128 Bridge street. Advertisements or commu pications may be left at the same place.

The Capitol Bakery.

The Capitol Bakery.

Yesterday morning we paid a visit to the Government bakery in the basement of the Capitol building, and were much surprised at the sights that we there saw. On entering the lower door, immediately behind the foundam, we found ourselves in the presence of the indefaultable superintendent, Lieut T. J. Cato, formerly of the sixth Massachusetts regiment, but now of the sixthem tregiment United States infantry, who was builty employed, as well as his two able clerks and assistants, Messrs. W. H. Mitchell and C. G. Merrill, of Lawrence, Massachusetts, Wo., however, secured the services of a friend, and commenced our tour of inspection.

spection. We first visited the vault under the retunds. We first visited the vault under the rotunds, which is used as a store-room for the immense quantity of fluor which is daily being received. The wagons are constantly kept busy delivering their loads under the eastern portice, from whence the barrels are folled into the vault. Whenever the flour is needed, it is slided down to the floor below. The amount of flour constantly in this room is between four and eight thou sand barrels.

Retracting our steps, we came again to the vicinity of the fountain, where we found eight ovens in full operation, turning out about 20,000 I ways of bread every twenty-four hours. The bread is of the best quality, and each load weight 22 ounces. There are forty bakers employed at these ovens, who have on one or two occasions, when pressed, run out 24,000 loaves per day.

Adjacent to these evens are two rooms, on on each side of the entrance, from which the brend is delivered. It may not be uninteresting to know the form in use. When the requi sition is sent by a quartermaster to the Sub-sistence Department at the Post Office for the rations for his regiment, my order is drawn for the brend, on Lieut, Cate, to whom the driver the brend, on Lieut. Cate, to whom the driver of the wigon presents it, and is furnished with a ticket, which is handed in at the delivery window, and the brend is forthwith passed out on smooth boar is to the wagon.

The mess room and the kitchen is also on this floor, and the hands, to the number of one bundred and sixty, here take their meals. This department is superintened by Mr. Levi M. Pierce, formerly of the eighth Massachusetts regiment, and the cleanly appearance observable, as well as the well-catered meals set out, give indisputable evidence that he "can keep a hotel."

Outside the building, in the vaults heretofore used for the stowing of feel, we find six double sized ovens built, emplying ten bakers each, and capable of furning out 40,000 loaves per day, but at present averaging about 30,000.

and capable of turning out 40,000 loaves per day, but at present avoraging about 30,000. Near by are two other rooms, in which eight men are constantly employed in making yeast, of which about fourteen hundred and fifty galions is made per day.

The bakers are all under the foremanship of Mr. John H. Sowersby, a baker of seventeen years experience, and formerly of Bond's celebrated bakery at Wilmington, Massachusetts.
The total number of persons about the establishment is one hundred and sixty, of which about one hundred are employed in baking bread, thirteen delivering it, eight making yeast, six in the cook room, six splitting wood, four in the store room, three watchmen, twelve teamsters, and the others as clerks, runners, and extra hands. Of the whole number employed, about fifty are from the North, the bal and extra bands. Of the whole number employed, shout fifty are from the North, the bal ance being our own citizens.

The pay roll for the last month amounted to over six thousand dellars. The hands are divided into four classes, the best of which get 42 per month with rations, and inferior ones, 435, 433, and 440 each.

Too much praise cannot be awarded to Li.

Too much praise cannot be awarded to Lt.
Cate, to whose judgment and experience much of the success of the bakery is due.

The depot to which the bakery is attached is in the Post Office Building, from whence the troops now on this side of the river receive all their supplies, excepting bread, which is procured from here or one of the other minor backets of which there are some eight or ten in es, of which there are some the city.

The Barney Divorce Case.

This case was continued yesterday in the orphan's court, Judge Purcell presiding. The first witness was John A. Linton, Esq., one of the counsel for Mr. De Krafft, who further testified to the brd treatment which both Mrs. Barney and the children had received at the hands of Mr. Barney.

The evidence on the side of the petitioner closed here, they, however, reserving the right to give rebutting testimony after the responsents shall have concluded.

James Maguire, Dr. E. T. Biake, and David Ramsey, were then severally examined on the James Maguire, Dr. E. T. Bake, and David Ramsey, were then severally examined on the part of the respondents, all of whom testified to his general sobriety and good conduct towards his wife and children, both in this city and in Paris, so far as they were cognizant. One of these witnesses testified that he had sometimes thought his conduct towards his children was content too lowing. entirely too lenient.

At half past two o'clock, the court adjourned, to meet at eleven o'clock this morning.

As will be seen by the card of Mr. Maryman, published yesterday morning, we were in error in stating that he was committed to the workhouse. The other parties arrested at the time were committed, but he was discharged from custody on the ground that he was there pretecting his own property. In relation to our statement, we have only to say, that the facts, as were published, we understood to be stated by the magistrate in the presence of several of the officers of the fifth ward.

Since the occurrence, Mr. Maryman has precurred warrants against several of the officers concerned in his arrest, charging them with assaulting and falsely imprisoning his person. Officer Jacob Ash, yesterday morning, arrested Sergeant John V. Beyan on one of the warrants, and took him before Justice Ferguson. The case was to have been heard yesterday after The "Hazletown" Case.

case was to have been heard yesterday after moon, but, owing to the absence of an importan witness, it was postponed for some days; Mr Bryan giving bail for his appearance.

"Who's Afraid!"
Our tewnsman, Edward Owen, is rebuilding on Pennsylvania avenue, in place of the structure several mentis ago destroyed by fire; and Wilham D Shepherdis also providing a fine habitation on Tenth street, Northern Liberties. The f-modation, too, of a large building is laid on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fitteenth street; and on Tenth street, between D and E, and on D street, between Eighth and Ninth, we yesterday beard the renewed music of the brick and trowel. Some folks are "afeared" and alarmed for the continuance of the capital at Washington, but the above-related facts show there are exceptions, and that faith in the United States Government is manifested by works. There are other evidences of a renewal of building operations. newal of building operations.

The Police Commissioners.

The Board of Metropolitan Police Commis-sioners held their usual weekly meeting at their rooms, on Eleventh street, but no business of importance was trans ated. The subject of contracting for the uniforms, and some other matters of no general importance were con-sidered, but no action taken thereon. sidered, but no action taken thereon, Another Flag for the Monument.

A lofty flag-staff, the top of which is about 240 feet above the surface of the ground, has been securely fixed upon the top of the Washington Monument, by Mr. Dean, who was the rigger employed by the society during the progress of the work upon the superstructure. To, the top of this pole, islyards have been attached, which extend to the office near the base of the M-nument, on which a beautiful flag, 24 by 45 feet, will shortly be raised, with appropriate ceremonies. This flag, which is of the finest bunting, was purchased by voluntary contributions, collected through the exertions of Mr. Widdicombo, and presented to the society. Another Flag for the Monument.

Patnful Accident.

About five o'clock yesterday afternoon, as the regulating ongine at the depot was regulating the cars near the station, several small boys amused themselves by riding on the tender. When near the Government Printing Office, on H street, the engine backed suddenly, and one little fellow, samed Caspar Glutsback, aged about eight years, fell off, and the wheels of the tender passed over his ankles, nearly severing his feet from his legs. Some of the neighbors picked him up and carried him to the Estreet Hospital, where his legs were amputated last night, some distance below his knee, in order, if possible, to save his life, but as he has lost much blood, it is feared he will die. The little boy is the son of Mr. Joseph Glutsback, a stenecutter, who resides on Delaware avenue, between H and I streets, near where the accident occurred.

Kobbery.

Yesterd-y afternoon, a gentieman named Belkosp left on a table, in his room at Willards' Hotel, nine twenty dollar gold-pieces for a short time; but on returning, the money was gone. Officer Kneas was immediately informed of the loss, and be arrested a young man omployed in the house, named James Garrey, who was taken before Justice Clark and committed to tail.
